WHAT RESTAURANTS, STORES, BARS OR AREAS WILL YOU BE VISITING IN NEW ORLEANS DURING ESSENCE FESTIVAL?

Can't leave NOLA without stopping by Cafe Pouché & Growler for breakfast or brunch and Morayo's for dinner! They have the best food and the best vibes.

"As soon as I get home to New Orleans for this year's ESSENCE Festival, I'm going to Old City on Magazine Street."

"Baldwin & Co. It's more than a bookstore, it is a bona fide experience. In addition to must-have literary finds, this Black-owned establishment offers stylish decor, tasty beverages and a podcast studio, and it even hosts dope events with authors, influencers and other inspiring creatives."

"Noia Cape has become the ESSENCE executive team's go-to spot when we are in the Big Easy. While I've observed with their hibiscus margaritas called 'Cinque Change' and their 'Noia's' (Noia's = Noia's), I've also enjoyed the braided beef cheek with jalapeño cheddar fries. This is the one treat all three of us look forward to while planning for ESSENCE Festival in New Orleans."

"My recommendation is Nayou's Creole Cafe. This is a great Black-owned restaurant close to the Tremé area. The food is delicious, the drinks are just right, the staff is friendly, and there's always a good crowd."

"It's so difficult to select a favorite NOLA spot in a place I call my second home, but I'll definitely put Doody's Chase and Nayou's Creole Cafe on the list."
